Stanzas by Col. Baker on his Dead Comrades in the Mexican War.

A gentleman of St. Louis, a former friend of Col. Baker's, has reproduced the annexed lines from his scrap book. They were written to the memory of the dead of the Illinois Regiment, who died from sickness incident to their camp locations on the unhealthy and marshy banks of the Rio Grande, and will be read with peculiar and sorrowful interest since their anchor now sleeps the sleep of death. He little thought, when years ago he penned this tribute to the memory of his dead comrades in Mexico, that a time would come when he would fall in defense of his country, and if the hands of those who, then were his countrymen:

Where rolls the rushing Rio Grande.
Here peacefully they sleep:
Far from their native Northern land,
Far from the friends who weep.
No rolling drum disturbs their rest,
Beneath the sandy mold—
The mosquito flies heavy on each breast.
The spirit is with God.

They heard their country's call, and came
To battle for her right;
Each bosom filled with martial flame,
And thirsting for the fight.
Light was their measured footstep when They moved to seek the foe.
Alas! that hearts so fiery, then,
Should seem so cold and low.

They did not die in eager strife
Upon a well-fought field;
Not from the red wound poured their life,
Where conquering foemen yield.
Death's ghastly pallor was slowly cast
Upon each manly brow;
But calm and fearless to the last,
They sleep in silence now.

Yet shall a grateful country give
Her honors to their name;
In kindred breasts their memories live,
And history guard their fame.
Nor unremembered do they sleep
Upon a foreign strand,
Though o'er their graves thy wild waves sweep,
Thou rushing Rio Grande.

Incidents connected with the Death of Col. Baker.

Corporal Frederick Piper, of Company F, First California Regiment, was wounded in the right hand and when he reached the river he plunged in with his clothes on. Five or six men sank beside him; their outcries were terrible. "My God!" "Oh, oh!" "Help!" were heard from all parts of the river. He swam with one hand for fifty yards, and struggled on, he hardly knew how, until he reached the opposite bank.

Mr. Piper lay concealed behind a rock, a clump of bushes protecting him from view, until twelve, midnight. During this time he saw the enemy's pickets, and heard them challenging our men, who struggled, one after another, into their lines. In response to the question, "Who goes there?" he often heard the answer, "A friend in distress." These, he supposes, were our men who went to deliver themselves up. At midnight the enemy rallied some two or three hundred men, and discharged a deadly volley among the bushes where our men were concealed. Eighteen or twenty men fell killed or wounded.

A few moments of quiet followed, and the demand from fifty voices was heard, "Surrender." They answered, "Don't fire, we surrender." "Which that regiment here," was then demanded by a rebel officer, at the same time he commanded our men to "Lay down their arms and come out." At this a large number rushed to the river bank and plunged in. "Come back, come back, you Yankee sons of b——," was the next exclamation, followed by another volley, and straggling shots at the men in the water. A large number were heard to give one outcry of distress and sink. The dead and wounded, in large numbers, lay scattered along the shore, and remained there through the night.

Reinforcements to the enemy were arriving at the place all night, shouting and singing as they came. Mr. Piper says that General Baker stood beside his horse quietly, coolly encouraging them. The boys lay flat on the ground for half an hour, as fire of the enemy going over them, but a great many rebel pickets or sharp shooters were stationed in the trees, and shot at us in the grass and picked off the officers. Then the rebels charged with the bayonet. The first battalion yielded slightly, but were soon met by another regiment coming up behind, who delivered their fire over the shoulders of the first while the bayonets were interlocked. They were not [illegible] and fifty of our men [illegible] and the remainder [illegible] otherwise [illegible]

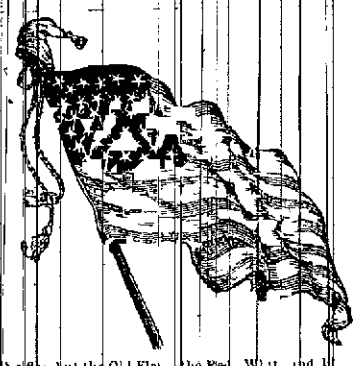
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag, but the Old Flag.—The Rest White and Blue
With the stars of a Union and right it true
Arise and I feed it you sons of the brave Whose blood bought the flag you have for inheritance

MONDAY MORNING DEC 9, 1861

Some interesting articles will be found on the first and last pages of this paper

The Two Coms Barron

The capture of Com Barron formerly a United States naval officer, late in the service of the Confederates at Hatteras Inlet has called up some reminiscences which will be interesting to our readers

In 1806, (the father of the present prisoner) Com Barron was appointed to raise his broad pennant over the U S frigate Chesapeake, of which Charles Gordon was Captain as Commander in Chief of the Mediterranean squadron The ship was then at Washington, where she was taking in stores and shipping her crew The British minister informed our government that there were three deserters from the British frigate Melampus among them, and requested that they should be given up The matter was referred to Captain Gordon He found that among his crew there were three deserters, but they stated that they were Americans and had been impressed No evidence of British citizenship was offered. Gordon reported to the British minister that the men would not be surrendered

In June the Chesapeake left for Norfolk where she completed her armament and received her entire crew, 375 men. Captain Gordon reported her ready for sea. Her men had not been trained to the guns and knew little of their duties. She left on the 22d for sea, followed by the British ship Leopard, which had been at anchor in Lynnhaven Bay At three o'clock, when some six miles at sea, the Leopard bore down upon the Chesapeake, hailed her, and informed Com Barron that he had despatches for him An officer from the Leopard was sent on board the Chesapeake, and exhibited to Com Barron an order from the British admiral Beshley, directing the captains of all the ships under his command, if they fell in with the Chesapeake to show the order to her commander, to "require a search for deserters," and to "proceed and search for the same." This order was accompanied by a note from the captain of the Leopard, requiring Com. Barron to submit the crew of the Chesapeake to examination. Com Barron replied that he knew of no such deserters, and that his men could not be mustered only by their own officers

The British Lieutenant returned, when it was observed that the Leopard was ready for action Capt Gordon ordered the gun deck to be cleared, and the men to be called to quarters But his decks were littered with cables and baggage, and he was in the worst possible condition to resist an attack. The guns were loaded and shotted, but there was found to be a deficiency of rammers wads matches and powder horns The Chesapeake, through gross neglect of her officers was in a perfectly helpless condition The Leopard again hailed the Chesapeake, but Com Barron replied that he did not understand the hail, whereupon the Leopard fired a shot ahead of the Chesapeake, and then a broadside directly into her, wounding Com Barron and his aid Efforts were directed to get the batteries of the Chesapeake ready, but the discovery was made that the means for discharging the guns were absolutely wanting. There was no priming powder, no matches locks nor loggerheads. The poverty of preparation was terrible for thus situated the Chesapeake lay, the Leopard pouring her broadsides into her Com. Barron then ordered the flag to be hauled down, and while it was being done, one solitary gun was fired by Lieutenant Allen, who brought a live coal from the galley in his fingers Com Barron sent a boat with a lieutenant to say to the captain of the Leopard that the Chesapeake was at his disposal, when he ordered Captain Gordon to muster his men—which was done—and the three alleged deserters were taken to the British ship The British Captain declining to take possession of the Chesapeake she returned to Hampton Roads the same evening, with the loss of but eight wounded her gun firing galled the Leopard not and the Leopard hulled twenty times

Thus was a specimen of British impudence the early days of the Republic which was finally wiped out by the [illegible] but for neglecting on the part of the officers engagement to clear his ship for [illegible] by suppose that any and could have [illegible]

Barron was taken prisoner at Hatteras Inlet on Friday 29th of 1861, in connection with whose name the country was deeply disgraced at that period

A Reminiscence

Lord Lyons a short time since complained that British subjects suspected of treason had been imprisoned in Fort Lafayette without process of law His complaint would naturally lead one to suppose that the Government which he represents never dreamed of depriving the disaffected of liberty till they were out of its power—that as treason, when the rebels were in the rebel ranks and had put its power to the test The student of English history need not be reminded of the authority of which sometimes assumed by the Crown in the habeas corpus Many of the arrests of foreigners in all ages and at times under summary manner in the British Isles We need not be reminded of Macaulay's charge of It is not necessary that we look into the past to establish what the practice of that Government in such cases, has been This was an attempt at [illegible] since years ago Mr Charles Phillips, of Maine Franklin County N Y recently wrote a letter to the New York Times, reminding the editor of that paper that during the [illegible] of 1837, scores of American citizens were thrown into prison in Toronto Montreal and Kingston for [illegible] and many of them without the slightest suspicion of having been in any way connected with the rebellion Mr Phillips was himself thus arrested and was confined for sixteen days in Toronto, when he had not expressed either by word or deed, the slightest sympathy with the rebellion England acted thus upon the law of self defence and neither her habeas corpus treaties, laws, or anything else was permitted to stand in the way of what was essential to her own safety

It seems to us that England cannot find fault with us for following the example which she set us herself In any event, it is [illegible] to attempt to define what a nation shall or shall not do to sustain itself The rebellion has reduced things to great principles Our Government claims, and will do whatever it deems necessary to uphold its own dignity No foreign nation has a right to find fault with its proceedings no more than an individual has a right to prescribe how his neighbor should rule his household If they do, there is the other alternative—an army of half a million, with a somewhat threatening navy —Alta

THE TRUE SPIRIT OF SECESSIONISM —Speaking of a gathering of more than a thousand Union men at Mount Sterling Ky, on the 23d ult, the Whig of that place says

"Gen. Dick Williams late of Texas, proposed to give his fellow countrymen a true and fair narrative of the effects of secession as witnessed by him in a travel of some 1200 miles overland He told of some of the most harrowing scenes of outrages and barbarities attrocities committed by the secessionists, as witness He himself and family [illegible] men were hung in Texas—not for acts of his—for no other crime than that they were loyal to the Government of their fathers He averred as a fact that he believed from [illegible] his own knowledge that the number [illegible] hung could not have been less than a thousand in the States of Texas Arkansas, and Tennessee"

General Butler in his late visit North, address the Vermont Legislature In relation to England and recognizing the Southern he said—

Being myself a citizen of the United States I am glad to answer As I believe this people of the South at heart feel [illegible] I take down that flag We do not [illegible] against them with [illegible] But while they [illegible] any power over the [illegible] and the [illegible] would almost spit the word out which [illegible] upon [illegible] BUT WHEN THEY TELL ME THAT THE NORTH ARE CALLED UPON TO FIGHT AGAINST ENEMIES, WE WILL ARM EVERY MAN IN THE CONTINENT, BE HE BLACK, WHITE OR COLORED (Applause)

The Richmond Whig thinks there are equal chances for the Confederates ahead It says

The possibility of our success is not within the range of accident It presents only a question of extermination as all we can hope for Under this state of things our Oregon sister press will hold its course —shouting for Beauregard and Davis with glory of the Lord'— lending aid to the United States armies as 'the enemy' and praying that 'our Government may be speedily

In the History of the West, it is said that there was a printing press in Walla Walla in 1839 Can any of our readers give us a history of this press?

DISASTERS BY THE FLOOD.

The Upper Willamette.

[illegible]

We have the Salem [illegible] of the 6th by Drew & Lee's express brought down by Mr O A Brown who went up there from Portland for that purpose

The flood reached the greatest height in Salem about 7 o'clock on Tuesday It was higher than any flood ever known by the white inhabitants, although it is said that the Indians have witnessed a higher one Certain trees

There had been heavy rains and warm atmosphere which unloaded many of the snows on the Cascade mountains Much of it was taken from Marion's stockade but this was discovered by the rapid waters, and on Monday last the warehouse Dr Rolles Mill and the other manufactory were carried away The wheat built last summer went away with the current

On Monday a skiff came down the river on which was Joseph Monfort a Frenchman and his family They were all saved with much difficulty

On Tuesday a shanty was found floating across the river Two boats were put off and twelve persons were saved from it Two young men, Elias Peaky and Wm Harrell went to relieve Mr Chitwood's family Then both were borne against a tree which they climbed and were rescued by the steamer Onward Two young men sons of Mr Chitwood, were drowned

The Onward left the Falls on Monday and remained that night at the Yamhill Capt Pease then kept on and the wreck [illegible] party all day He picked up forty persons, many in extreme danger He took Mr Hillar, and family from a barn which went to pieces a few minutes afterward Signals were made from a house for relief and Capt Pease sent a boat, but the steamer proceeded up the river

The warehouse at Westland with 7 000 bushels of wheat, was swept off and it is supposed that others have gone the same way The loss to Salem is serious

On Tuesday morning Chas Crane, Hibbard and Thos Spittle started down the river to relieve persons in that direction Everything was wreck and Crane's farm and they saved the lives of fifteen persons One young man in a tree had cut his name on the bark as a notice of his exit, and was taken down benumbed and helpless Prince Helden and wife, and Yamhill Ford were taken off by the boat

The Santiam rose till Monday noon and was higher than ever known At the mouth it was nearly a mile in breadth Animals, houses barns and granaries were destroyed No lives were known to have been lost

In the neighborhood of Independence similar loss is said to have taken place 10 000 bushels of wheat was [illegible] Eight persons took refuge in a tree on Mr Kays on Monday night Mr Hockenyos Santiam City had damage was [illegible]

On Monday at [illegible] the water was within the walls of the [illegible] and [illegible] the Wood Factory The water [illegible] at the rate of [illegible] per hour until [illegible] dark, [illegible] it will be [illegible] three feet [illegible] of [illegible] mile in breadth The gravelly ridge running from Main and Second street near the bridge northward was not submerged but the road a half foot more would have covered it all.

Mr Jones, with his family living in the island below Independence went down the river on the roof of his dwelling [illegible] a drift and they were rescued Two [illegible] passed down by Independence on Monday night, with lights burning in their windows

It was reported that Mr Roberts a owner of the steam mill near Sprongs ferry, is drowned

Oakland, opposite Corvallis, is carried away At Albany a few houses were destroyed

THE CHINESE AND THE COURTS.—Ho, ris

executives in this quarrels. Quite a fuss in moved before the charging Ah Ping with Hong, contrary to the Oregon, in such cases

Ah Hong, but when the Marshal made his appearance, Johnny had absquatulated

In the afternoon Ah Ping appeared before Justice Barr and complained of Wa Chow for threatening to take his life. A warrant was issued accordingly, and Wa Chow was bound over to keep the Peace.

The river at 5 o'clock, P. M. on yesterday was at a stand. It had fallen from its highest point 35½ inches.

The steamer Express came from Oregon
City to Portland in thirty five minutes.

The Board of County Commissioners will continue their session this morning.

Marsh, News Dealer, has some very good lithographs on cards of the Generals in the federal and rebel armies. Take a look at them.

W. MILLER, Esq. of Olympia, appointed quarter-master in the army under General Sprague, is distinctly for the Union and be now in fighting to sustain it.

The Advertiser declines to cover the rebel flag, but makes that of John Brown. This is absurd. John Brown was a loyal man in the anti-secessionist.

"Punch," of the Steilacoom Herald, never utters more truths in a given time, than when describing the lying propensities of the Post and Watertender. It is now said that the cap ital of $5.00, on which he was doing business was "honest man," is exhausted.

There has been a public meeting in Cincin nati denounce the swindling of contractors furnishing the army in clothing and shoes.
Would Congress would adopt the severe penalties of military law in such cases, and authorize the shooting of such contractors.
That would cure the evil at once.

TELEGRAPHIC.—The news from Champoeg is inaccurate. Only one house, Dr. Newell's, burned. One man is missing from Champoeg supposed to be drowned.

Five houses have been swept away from Marysville.

MINT MATTERS REPORTED GONE.—It is rumored that the Jackson's, Harrison's, and Gibbs' Mills in Washington County have been burned away.

THE IRON CLAD FRIGATE "WARRIOR."—The Warrior is something more than a mere iron clad vessel. It is such a frigate as never was launched, and would be far more than a match for the most powerful three decker afloat. We are then, however of her size and strength, let us contrast her dimensions and armament with those of her predecessors in former days. The Warrior is nominally a 60 gun frigate. In the days of the last war such a ship would have been less than 1,000 tons burden, and would have thrown perhaps 900 and 400 pounds of metal at a metal at a broadside. She would have carried a full complement about 350 men would have been considered a powerful armament vessel. The Warrior is of 6,000 tons burden, so we would throw a broadside weighing 1,200 pounds of metal and she has cost, we hear, at least £400,000. She is half as large again as the largest ship of the navy out of the water. We must then her horse-power for the purpose of reckoning to an amount of great proportions. For that she still the destructive powers which

All we wish to point out at present is that a than half as large again than the

PROMOTION FROM THE RANKS.—Washington correspondence, dated October 28th, of the N Y Tribune, says that the Secretary of War Cameron, has searched the regular army for Sergeants who had been experienced and virtual and confined upon 25 of them commissions as 2d Lieutenants. The futures in their own hands. Thus it seems that under the present administration of the War Department, there is a chance for men of merit to rise from the ranks. The duty that created the Marshals of France under Napoleon will have full opportunity under Cameron. The N Y Post of October 29th, commenting on the report that the Secretary of War had made up his mind to promote from the ranks, adds:

"His abilities and moral courage as shown by their skill and bravery that they will make good officers."

We are sure that no step will be received with heartier approbation than this by the people of this country, and certainly no better means could be devised to make our soldiers fight well. But such promotions, when they are the reward of gallant conduct, ought to be immediate and public. It should be understood that to be maintained in the ranks of the regiment will bring promotion and that only those officers who will win for themselves the honorable gallantry will be promoted. By the present system the advantage of merit over favoritism is very small. Every day by the neglect of deserving able and gallant captains and lieutenants

Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

ESTABLISHED IN 1854.

DR. CZAPKAY, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of the Imperial University of Vienna, Austria, Ex-Surgeon of the Austrian Army, Late Surgeon to the Hungarian Legion, Author of various Medical Works, &c. &c.

SPECIAL WEAKNESS, arising from the indiscretion of the latter and study, loss of energy, aversion to society, nervousness, headache, pains in the back, dimness of sight, loss of memory, universal lassitude, pain in various parts of the body, affections of the kidneys and bladder, inflammation, weakness of the organs of generation, involuntary discharges, impotency, and all diseases of a private nature, however arising, or of long standing, are treated with the most unfailing success.

Dr. C. addresses all those who have been unfortunate enough to be misled by the use of Mercury, and who are suffering from its baneful effects, such as affections of the throat, nose, skin, eyes, bones, ulcers, &c. &c.

Dr. C. addresses females in particular, who are laboring under any of the numerous diseases peculiar to their sex, such as Suppression, Irregularities, Whites, Inflammation, Ulceration, Displacements, Sterility, Pregnancy, Change of Life, &c. &c.

Dr. C. has been established fifteen years in San Francisco, during which time he has performed many of the most remarkable cures on record. Persons at a distance can be cured by addressing him by letter, stating their symptoms, habits, &c. Medicines sent to any part of the State, Pacific Coast or Atlantic States, by express, with full directions for use. Consultation by letter strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, between Montgomery and Kearny, opposite Pacific Wall Street, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

I wish the certificates of three of the sufferers whom I discharged, who having recovered their health, feel impelled by gratitude, make known their cases and their agent, and their statement, among the many unfortunate who, unfortunately for humanity, are victims of quackery and their pretensions, and who, through publicity, and by exposing the villainous practices of unprincipled pretenders, may be the means of saving many of the afflicted.

The undersigned deems it a duty he owes to himself and to humanity, that he is fortunate enough to be instrumental in the relief of their sufferings, may be allowed the opportunity to thus publicly express his gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay for the cures performed upon them, and cheerfully recommend him to the afflicted. Borne down by the distressing and pernicious practices of unprincipled pretenders, and oppressed in body and mind, with the terrible suffering, duty imposed upon them, they sought the advice of many physicians, but found no relief. The disease as of trifling importance, and after two weeks, and in several instances months, of treatment I found, to my infinite mortification and regret, my symptoms became worse instead of better, and being told by certain physicians that the disease was confined to the brain, and others that it was incurable, I despaired of ever regaining my health, and as a last resort applied upon Dr. Czapkay, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost immediately relieved me of the dull pain and depression under which I labored. The result I resolved to place myself entirely under the treatment of Dr. Czapkay, and strictly adhere to his directions. In a few days I felt the pleasant pain in my back and groins, which indicates the nervous reaction of my system. In the first week of treatment, the sensations of the self-distrust and want of confidence, the result of my early indiscretion, disappeared, and I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which had been blighted by the voluntary discharges, have all disappeared, and I now feel as well after having revealed the secret as if it had remained buried in my own breast. I contemplated to end by my own hand, which I was fortunately prevented from doing by the merciful and skilful Dr. Czapkay. I am desirous to guard the unfortunate from falling into the hands of pretent quacks, I deem it my duty to recommend to all who may stand in need of medical assistance the skill possessed by my own experience that permanent cure will be effected.

B. F. FITTMORE.

State of California, County of San Francisco, ss.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this seventh day of January, A. D. 1856. Signed JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

MARYSVILLE, June 6, 1856.

Dr. L. J. Czapkay, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the medicine and do not think I shall need any more. I feel very well except that I have not quite as good an appetite as I could wish. In a few weeks, you may recollect, since I called on you, I told you that with my constitution, as I thought proper that with the right you might be able to do something for me. I was broken and beat, and strength and energy I must not get excited and trouble myself, as my mind, from the dissatisfaction with complete recovery, would sympathize and the recurrence of those sores and blotches from my throat, and the intense pain in my head, which you said were only the effects of nervousness, for I hardly tell you which is the better to enjoy my surprise, for except not having fully regained my health I feel as well as any man can feel. I owe you twenty dollars over your charges, which I will send you next. If you think anybody will be benefited by it, you are at liberty to put this letter in the newspapers. Yours truly,

THOMAS DAVIS.

Thankfulness is the incentive to this—Hear!

CARSON CITY, —I am prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to inform the public in case which does not only to an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity. About two years ago I suddenly, and for what I might term, was seized with a fit of sickness, which I sought my friends and family to assist the experience of medical treatment, and the disease, but in vain. I met with them attempting it, and for the last few months I felt that I believe me to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently ill in pursuit of my business, and without the slightest warning, I was unable to the agonies, I yet, buried the thought of the grave, the existence of my misery. I was at one time reduced to a mere skeleton, and was recommended, called on Dr. Czapkay. He kindly offered me his services, and I accepted them. I was more restored to perfect health, and I gave him the boon which I enjoy. I am indebtedness, I owe no one the case public, in case of advice may find a place.

PROMOTION FROM THE RANKS.—Washington correspondence, dated October 28th, of the N. Y. Tribune, says that the Secretary of War, Cameron, has searched the regular army for Sergeants who had brains, experience, and virtue, and conferred upon 25 of them commissions as 2d Lieutenants. Their future is in their own hands. Thus it seems, that under the present administration of the War Department, there is a chance for men of merit to rise from the ranks. The ability that created the Marshals of France under Napoleon will have full opportunity under Cameron. The N. Y. Post, of October 29th commenting on the report that the Secretary of War had made up his mind to promote from the ranks such soldiers and non-commissioned officers as showed by their skill and bravery that they will make good officers, says:

We are sure that no step will be received with heartier approbation than this by the people of this country; and certainly no better means could be devised to make our soldiers fight well. But such promotions, where they are the reward of gallant conduct in action, ought to be immediate and public. Let it be understood that to be mentioned in the dispatches of the commander will bring instant promotion, and it is not only the regulars who will win for themselves rank and honor by gallant conduct. For the present it would be a great advantage to many of our volunteer regiments to have a few steady, cool and intelligent non-commissioned officers from the regular army placed among them as company officers; and as the Secretary appears to be in earnest, we recommend him to fill in this manner the places falling vacant every day by the resignation of incapable volunteer captains and lieutenants.

the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon its victim existence of suffering, and consigning him to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another form of the vice, scarcely less fearful in its consequences than the former. There is nothing else in the dread catalogue of human ills, so destructive a drain upon the system—draining the life-blood of its victims through a few years of suffering, to an untimely grave. It destroys the body, with its functions, wastes away the energies of life, unfits a man for the duties of social life, prevents the proper development of the physical system, qualifies for marriage, society, business, and all enjoyment, happiness, and leaves the sufferer a wreck to body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils worse to be dreaded than death itself. With the former we can assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities, and all diseases of [illegible] based on principles established by fifteen years' experience, and sanctioned by thousands of the most [illegible] cures. Medicines with full directions, sent to any part of the United States, Oregon and Washington Territory, by [illegible] stating their symptoms by letter.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Skill.

Below we publish the certificates of three persons who, from the pangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude, publish their cases and remedial agents, and their statements authenticated by a Notary Public. The facts [illegible] imperiously commend their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of assisting those who may be unfortunate enough to be afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings can be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the [illegible] recovery of his health. Borne down by the [illegible] and symptoms incident to the vicious practices of my youthful passion in youth; depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as [illegible] importance—but, alas! after a few weeks, and in many instances, months, of their treatment, I found to my unspeakable horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture, and left no doubt in my mind of my disease being principally confined to the bladder. Life would be of little consequence. I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength, and energy, and was [illegible] with but a faint hope, called upon the Doctor, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which instantly relieved me of the dull pain and [illegible] head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by strict obedience to his directions and advice, my head became clear, my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and [illegible] weakness of my limbs, the nervous [illegible] of my body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the [illegible] and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and the [illegible] the frightful, exciting and at times [illegible] night, followed by involuntary [illegible] appeared; and in fact, in two months after [illegible] the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life, [illegible] but a short time ago I contemplated to end my [illegible] hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate [illegible] into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merits and skill of the Doctor, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience that [illegible] under his care a radical and permanent cure will be [illegible]

Dr. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I need any more, as I feel very well except that I have not got my strength yet, but soon will with the [illegible]. It is just three weeks you may recollect since I called at your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, entirely ruined, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and [illegible] nerves, so that I would not get excited and [illegible] anything. Now that you know what I am, let me be the judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from all symptoms, and the removal of those sores and [illegible] my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the [illegible] page of those emissions, which you said were [illegible] the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except a little [illegible] got my strength, I feel as well as any man on earth.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over [illegible] think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the [illegible] believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HANDY.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by no [illegible] I wish to lay before the public a case which I [illegible] mendation, not only as an act of [illegible] humanity also. About two years ago, [illegible] causes unknown to me, was seized with a [illegible] which, owing to my inability to meet the [illegible] quent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the [illegible] agement which I met with on attempting [illegible] such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the [illegible] physician. I was frequently, while in bed, [illegible] thrown down to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and although insensible to the agonies of [illegible] miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon [illegible] would render assistance or shelter me from the [illegible] mies who sought to prolong the existence of my [illegible] While in this state, and having, previous to [illegible] tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to [illegible] seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, [illegible] upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my [illegible] and of my inability to reward him for his services, [illegible] of which, however, he at once undertook, and [illegible] the blessing of God, I was once more restored to [illegible] health. Unable to reward him for the boon [illegible] I cannot present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I [illegible] due to myself and all afflicted, to make the [illegible] order that those in need of medical advice may [illegible] cian in whom every confidence can be placed.
